DOMINICAN, SENEGAL ISSUES BEFORE U.N.

SENEGAL CHARGES AIRSPACE VIOLATED BY PORTUGUESE

The United Nations Security Council last week heard Senegal's charge — and Portugal's — that Portuguese military forces had repeatedly violated Senegal's territory and airspace and that they had attacked frontier villages.

Mr. Ousmane Boce Diop of Senegal detailed 17 incidents which he said had taken place since the Council's adoption, two years ago, of a resolution asking Portugal to do whatever necessary to prevent violation of Senegal's sovereignty. They took place, he said, despite Portugal's declared intention scrupulously to respect the country's sovereignty.

Mr. Diop asked the Council to condemn the violations and get Portugal to abide by its promise.

Mr. Bonifacio de Miranda of Portugal rejected the Senegalese allegations as completely baseless and unwarranted but that in order to show its good faith, he said, his Government would be willing to have a three-man committee investigate the charges. Such a committee, he said, should be made up of one member appointed by Senegal, one by Portugal and the third, the Chairman, nominated either by the U.N. Secretary-General or the Council President in consultation with the two countries.

SECRETARY-GENERAL SENDS MISSION TO SANTO DOMINGO

The United Nations Security Council on Friday, 14 May, urged a strict cease-fire in the Dominican Republic and asked the U.N. Secretary-General urgently to send a representative there who would report on the situation to the Council.

A small advance party of U.N. staff members headed by Maj. Gen. L.J. Rikhye, U Thant's military adviser, left New York over the weekend for Santo Domingo. In addition, the Secretary-General told the Council he was seeking a person of appropriate qualifications — among them linguistic — to dispatch as his Representative, and that he hoped to be able to report progress soon.

The Council decision was taken unanimously on Friday by the adoption of a brief (Continued on Page 8)

Sitten tihaisen muinamaisella soveltavilla ei liene monisteessa ollut mitään perustavia tai itsessään merkittäviä niemiä. Alussa mainitut arviointimetodit poikkeutuvat annettuihin vuosikymmenten jälkeen minnekin. Tämä on vaikeuksellinen tehtävä, sillä arvioinnit saattavat tuoda tulkinnan ja siihen liittyvän käsityksen väkivallan. Tässä jaksossa keskustelemme pyrekkaista ja monipuolistavaista konfliktin tapauksista.

Quaisison-Sackey Sees USSR
Position "More Flexible"

THE President of the United Nations General Assembly, Mr. Alex Quaisison—Sackey, told newsmen in Geneva last week that he believed the Soviet position on financing of U.N. peace-keeping operations was very flexible and had moved considerably within the past three months.

Mr. Quaisison—Sackey stopped in Geneva en route to Vienna, where he was to attend the 10th anniversary celebration of the signing of the Austrian State Treaty.

Speaking as the chairman of the 33-nation Committee set up to examine the entire question of peace-keeping operations and their financing, he said in answer to questions that the U.S.S.R. was insisting only that it was the Security Council which must initially take decisions on peace-keeping.

In describing the Soviet position as flexible, Mr. Quaisison-Sackey said the U.S.S.R. had already expressed willingness to contribute substantially to wiping out the current U.N. debt provided the question of the loss of vote in the General Assembly was not raised in connection with past peace-keeping costs.

This was in reference to a provision in the United Nations Charter that Members two years in arrears in payment of their share of the U.N. U.S.S.R. shall lose their vote in the Assembly.

The Soviet Union and France are among the number of States listed as being in arrears as a result of non-payment of peace-keeping assessments. On 6 May, Mr. Quaisison-Sackey informed the International Court of Justice advised were expenses to be apportioned by the Assembly.

Discussing this important point, the U.S.S.R. and France contended they are not in arrears on the grounds that only the Security Council and not the entire General Assembly can take binding decisions on peace-keeping operations including their financing.

The Special Committee on Peace-Keeping Operations has been meeting at United Nations Headquarters. On 6 May, Mr. Quaisison-Sackey informed the Committee that he would not enter into another series of consultations with Members.

He expressed hope that in the consultations there would be 'a formulation of ideas bringing together the community of interests so that at the next series of meetings the Committee could discuss precise agreements of an interim or permanent Agency in Vienna. Three years later, in 1963, he was asked once again to join one of the United Nations field missions, this time as Principal Legal Adviser with the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization. In 1958, he was assigned as Senior Legal Adviser to the Commander of the United Nations Force in Gaza.

In 1960, Dr. Gorgé was appointed Senior Legal Officer of the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna. Three years later, in 1963, he was asked once again to join one of the United Nations field missions, this time as Principal Legal Adviser with the United Nations Operations in the Congo. Two years later he returned to post with the International Atomic Energy from where he has come to join the United Nations Force in Gaza.

Welcome to UNFICYP, Dr. Gorgé.

Kanakaratne to Leave Soon; Rémy Gorge Succeeds Him

It's sad to say goodbye — and a most popular person. So, friends in Cyprus have decided not to detain him.

The departure this week of Mr. Kanakaratne, Legal Adviser to the United Nations Force Commanders in Cyprus, has been the highlight of social activity during the past days — it seems that all his colleagues and friends were trying to outbid each other to organize luncheons, dinners, etc., to show how much they regret his going back to Head- quarters and another assignment with the U.N.

His popularity and important role within UNFICYP is well justified, as Mr. Kanakaratne was the oldest senior UNFICYP official — he came to Cyprus in March 1964 — and has proved his value by quietly ironing out a number of legal knots that otherwise might have adversely affected the functions of the UN operation in Cyprus. He has also played an important part in the good offices provided by UNFICYP in attempts to try to restore normal conditions in the function of the Law Courts and the administration of justice in the country.

Mr. Kanakaratne, a graduate of the Royal College of Colombo, with a B.A. from the University of Ceylon and an M.A. and LL.B. from the University of Cambridge, has been connected with United Nations activities since 1957 when he was appointed Legal Adviser to the Permanent Mission of Ceylon to the United Nations. Since then and through early 1961, he represented his country in a number of United Nations meetings as Special Representative of The Law and the Sea, II Emergency Special Session of the General Assembly, Human Rights Commission and the Conference on the Elimination or Reduction of Future Stateless.

In March 1961, he joined the United Nations and was assigned
