MANDATE EXTENDED

SECURITY COUNCIL VOTE IS UNANIMOUS

On Thursday afternoon, the United Nations Security Council meeting at U.N. Headquarters in New York voted unanimously to extend the United Nations Peace-keeping Operation in Cyprus for another six months.

The Council acted in the light of a report from the Secretary-General, U Thant, stating that the U.N. Force must remain on the island lest a “disastrous reversion to violence” occur.

The resolution expressed the hope that by the time the mandate of the Force ends — on 26 December — enough progress toward a political settlement will have been achieved to enable the Force to be substantially cut or pulled out entirely. The resolution urged the parties concerned to act with the utmost restraint and to make determined efforts with the view to achieving a solution.

The resolution providing for the further extension of the peace-keeping operation was approved after it was introduced by Ambassador J. G. de Beus of the Netherlands on behalf of eight non-permanent members of the Council. Noting that high-level discussions between Greece and Turkey had just gotten under way, Mr. de Beus stressed that there was nothing in the resolution to warrant a controversial debate.

Following the unanimous vote, Lord Caradon of the United Kingdom — the former Administrative Power in Cyprus — announced that his Government would maintain its contingent with the U.N. Force at its strength of over 1,000 men; would pay the costs involved; and would continue voluntary financial contributions at the past rate of one million dollars every three months.

Accidents Drop

The statistics show a very satisfactory situation and it is hoped that all drivers in the Force will do their best to maintain and improve on this record.

One word of warning. The Deputy Force Provost Marshall tells us that there are still too many drivers being booked for speeding. Remember that speed is the most common cause of accidents.

BRIG. WILSON
DEPARTS; FORCE BIDS FAREWELL

Brig. A.J. “Jim” Wilson CBE MC leaves Nicosia today for London after one year and nine months service with the United Nations Force in Cyprus.

The past few days were very busy ones for the Brigadier. In addition to his detailed hand-over to the new Chief of Staff, Brigadier M.N. Harbottle OBE he has been saying good-bye to his many friends including, of course, the British Contingent with UNIFICYP.

On Saturday evening, 18 June, the Force Commander and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos A. Bernardes gave a farewell reception for Brigadier Jim and his wife, Jean. Previously, on Monday, 13 June, HQ UNIFICYP officers entertained him to dinner at the HQ Officers’ Mess. At coffee, Gen. A.E. Martola presented Brig. “Jim” with a silver cigarette box on behalf of the HQ officers. (See photo below).

Last Monday, the Brigadier spent the day saying good-bye to the British Contingent in UNIFICYP’s Limassol Zone. (See photos P’s).

NORWAYPLEDGES$10,000 TO UNIFCYP COSTS

Argentina announced last week that it would contribute $50,000 to help meet the expenses of the United Nations' mission in Cyprus for the period of November 18 to March 31. This amounts to some $10,000 more than the United Nations Development Programme charges for the same period.

CUBA PROTESTS NICARAGUAN'S CHICKEN PRESS STATEMENT

T HE Prensa Latina de Cuba, Mr. Raúl Roa, said in a letter to the United Nations General Secretary, U Thant, last week that President Reino Schick of Nicaragua had shown that his press was not only a tool for ideological conquests, but also a weapon for the necessities of the government.

President Schick accused the Cuban government of having used the press to libel him and his government.

Argentina's mission was being used as a mouthpiece for the United Nations, he said, and he asked the President to use his influence to have the press act according to international standards.

Cuba's statement was made in response to an article in the Nicaraguan newspaper "El Universal," which had accused Havana of being "an enemy of the revolution."

LATEST LIZARD RACES
BIG SUCCESS

On Friday, June 24th, the LIZARD FLATS CANOE CLUB sponsored the third in a series of races as their contribution to the Ste Jean Baptiste celebrations being held by French Canadians the world over.

Major Romeo Plourde, the CANNON Roman, Carlelie Chaplin, and Major Jacques Bour of the Royal 22ème Regiment were the chief organizers and arranged for the necessary arrangements and provided the necessary funds. They were very successful. The races were held on 26 June. Celebrations

BESIDE THE SEASIDE

C OMMING from a somewhat cooler climate than that which prevails here, addition of the 2nd Battalion The Black Watch (RIR) of Canada seek relief from the heat on the beaches around Kyrenia.

Sergeant Walter Berryhill, the unit Physical Training Instructor, and his staff, in addition to conducting periods of instruction for non-swimmers, provide a safety staff on two beaches. The 11th Pioneer Platoon have constructed life guard towers on these beaches and one boat is constantly patrolled by a life guard crewed motor boat. To date three rescues have been made which may have averted possible disasters.

Lance Corporal John Harper is now well into his third scuba diving course. Approximately forty members of the battalion have qualified on the three week course which covers all aspects of scuba diving and using unit owned tanks. Here’s an idea of the training the Mediterranean is a paradise for scuba divers and scuba divers. In the clear water abundant fish are easily seen and approached. Hooking with a spear gun is becoming more and more popular in the area and amongst the scuba divers.

Lieutenant Peter Goldie, the club transport officer, was chief track steward and was assisted by Captain George Nye and Lieutenant Mike Kelly. The main duty of the stewards was to ensure that the proper lizard was placed in the proper slot on the starting line. The proper direction of the proper lizard.

The contingent medical officer, although not a club member, ensured fair play by examining each lizard before it was allowed to race and he also represented the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Captain Nye, the contingent dental officer, performed emergency operations on spec. Those who received relief.

IRCON ROUND-UP

In Coy area the Easter Platoon Competitions are still going great interest. 4 Pl and 5 Pl both in competition in the Scout Platoon, the 5 Pl stationed at Kato Pyrgo and 4 Pl stationed at Long Beach, while Lt Cummins who command 4 Pl was a surprise winner in the Short Swim. In the Volley Ball match played that evening 4 Pl won by 2 points to 1. 4 Pl won the Soccer match played at Hakkas on the 14th and 4 Pl were the only goal in the game being scored by Capt V. O’Malley.

Eight members of “B” Coy are in the Holy Land at the moment, and almost fifty more are awaiting their turn to go. A most enjoyable concert, for the Group Commander attended and certainly seemed to enjoy, was held at Kato Pyrgo. Among those who helped make it a memorable night were Cpl G. Leven and his Team, Pte D. O’Connell, Bob Smith, and Tony Arnold, as we all Cpl Barry Fagan, Pte D. Burke, Jim Radford and Pte O’Lochlainn, Graham and Traynor.

On Thursday 16th Cpl Phil Burke, James Radford and Pte Patrick O’Lochlainn went to Nicosia where they recorded for the CDO “Five Nation Programme.”
