COUNCIL MEMBERS
PRESS CASE AGAINST SOUTH AFRICA

A new draft resolution threatening "effective measures" against South Africa if she did not promptly free 33 South West Africans tried and sentenced under her "Terrorism Act" was introduced in the UN Security Council on Monday.

Sponsored by the Council's seven African-Angolan and Latin American members, the draft censures the Government of South Africa for its "flagrant defiance" of the United Nations on the trial issue. Both the UN General Assembly and the Council had earlier said that "normal relations between" the two should be restored and the accused set free on the grounds that South Africa had no jurisdiction over South West Africa since her old League of Nations mandate was ended by the UN.

The new draft calls upon UN Member States to cooperate with the Council to ensure South African compliance.

In introducing the draft, Ambassador Shahid of Pakistan said differences between the sponsors and the various other Council members regarding the language of the resolution had so far not been reconciled, but that the sponsors remained ready to engage in further consultations.

The Council, which is meeting at UN Headquarters in New York, was scheduled to go into session again yesterday afternoon.

HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION MOVES AGAINST S. AFRICA

The UN Commission on Human Rights — which is currently meeting at UN Headquarters in New York — has unanimously condemned South Africa for its defiance of UN resolutions concerning the trials of South West Africans and "for instituting another illegal trial of South West Africans under its Terrorism Act".

The Commission acted after being informed of news despatches reporting that South Africa would shortly try eight more South West Africans. The issue is currently before the UN Security Council (see story above).

South Africa has not so far heeded UN requests to stop these trials, taking the position that the world Organisation had no authority to terminate its mandate or to interfere in her administration of the Territory.

U THANT APPEAL TO AID NEW JORDAN REFUGEES

U N Secretary-General, U Thant, has appealed for more aid from all United Nations Member States to help the new flood of refugees moving eastward in Jordan following the recent border clash between that country and Israel.

U Thant informed the UN General Assembly, in a report submitted to this body, on Monday, that recent incidents had caused some 75,000 persons to abandon their homes or shelters in the Jordan River valley and seek refuge on the higher ground to the East, away from the scene of the firing.

A report from the head of the UN refugee agency in the Middle East (UNRWA), which the Secretary-General delivered to the Assembly, said that the movement out of the valley became a flood after 15 February when, according to Jordanian figures, 46 civilians were killed and 55 injured in the course of border incidents. Those moving away included Palestinian refugees of long-standing — from the 1948-49 war — as well as Palestinians uprooted in last summer's Arab-Israeli hostilities.

Mr. Laurence Michelmore, the head of the UN Agency, said the movement remained at a high rate as of the first of March. The Agency, he said, was continuing to aid those staying in the valley and also helping the Jordanian Government provide emergency assistance to those who had gone eastward.

Secretary-General to Visit BENELUX Capitals in April

A T the invitation of the Governments of Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands, the Secretary-General, U Thant, will pay a visit to the Benelux countries after the conclusion of the meetings of the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination (ACC) to be held in Geneva on 4 and 5 April 1968.

According to present plans, he will visit the Netherlands from 7 to 9 April; Belgium from 9 to 10 April; and Luxembourg on 11 April. U Thant will return to New York on 12 April.

Last week, the Secretary-General made a one-day visit to Hot Springs, in the state of Virginia, where he attended the annual meeting of Resident Representatives of the UN Development Programme and of the UN family of organizations concerned with economic and social development.

WORLD REACTION TO SG’S CALL TO HALT BOMBING OF NORTH VIET-NAM

U Thant, UN Secretary-General, was gratified last week by the expressions of support issued by various Governments for his new call for a halt to bombing of North Viet-Nam as the indispensable first step toward a negotiated solution of the Viet-Nam conflict.

In a statement issued the previous Saturday, following a series of meetings with various Government leaders, as well as with representatives of the Democratic Republic of Viet-Nam in New Delhi and in Paris, U Thant declared he was more convinced than ever that an end of the bombing and all other acts of war against the North would open the door to peace talks “even perchance within a matter of a few days.”

Commenting on the statement, the United States delegation to the UN, said that the US, for its part, had been “see-}

ROAD SAFETY CORNER

1. MIRROR AND SIGNALS

A good driver, making full and frequent use of his mirrors is just as aware of the following traffic as of that in front. He will not neglect to indicate any alteration in course or speed for the information of those behind.

2. SPEED

At 60 M.P.H. you have 6 times the punch you had at 25 M.P.H. You require 6 times the braking distance and—if a flat tyre bursts you could roll over 6 times. In other words, the higher the speed, the greater the potential danger. Rule your speed and conditions and the distance you can see to be clear, particularly at night.

3. OVERTAKING

Before deciding to overtake, a clear view of the road ahead is the first essential, hence the advantage of the hang back position described last week.

The second is to check on traffic behind, which may be about to overtake you. The third is correct judgment of comparative speeds.

If in any doubt—don’t go.

4. DAMDLING

This really comes under Consideration. So many drivers on our congested roads mistake necessity for reasonable speed, and unreasonable slowness, particularly in narrow main roads, results in traffic jams, frayed tempers and dangerous overtaking.

5. LANE DISCIPLINE

Drivers keeping to the left lane unless about to overtake or turn right. Before changing lanes for either purpose check in your mirror that it is safe to do so and signal your intention.

Give these points the attention they deserve!

Britain Donates Nuclear Equipment To IAEA.

SPECIAL nuclear equipment worth $6,000 has been given to the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) by the United Kingdom in addition to the United Kingdom voluntary contribution to the Agency’s General Fund.

The equipment will first be used jointly by the IAEA and the International Labour Organisation (ILO), which are holding a course at the IAEA Centre in Turin during April, to give training on the repair and maintenance of nuclear instrumentation.

After this it will remain available to the Agency for similar use, for laboratory work, or for technical assistance to other countries.

There are nine items in the gift, consisting of a radiation counting system, monitors and probes, oscilloscopes, a scintillation crystal for gamma spectrometry, a photomultiplier and a detector holder, meters, and a power unit.
