Editorial
As the long hot Cyprus summer continues I make no apology for drawing your attention to the fire hazard yet again. The front cover shows a recent fire fighting exercise but it should be noted that the fire fighting teams have been in action for several times recently. We must all exercise great care to prevent fires.

You will also be aware of the recent Road Safety Campaign. Even though the week of publicity has now finished we must all remain vigilant on the roads. Traffic accidents have accounted for more deaths and injuries to UNICYP personnel than any other cause.

We welcome this month the new FSC Squadron, The Life Guards, together with the new SWEDICPOL contingent and the new DCOS, Col Wellsman, who is also COMCANCON.

I am sure that all those who attended the Canada Day celebrations would agree that they were good entertainment. A considerable sum of money was also raised for charity. The highlights of the day are recorded within this issue. We also relate the story of the MP Coy assistance to the blind in Cyprus.

We congratulate the organisers of both charitable fund raising activities.

WHY IS OUR CHOW HERE AT AUSCON SO SPECIAL?

By Capt MANZL

In general army kitchens don't enjoy the best of reputations, but with us at AUSCON the case is a totally different one - because our cooks and our overall catering system are absolutely at the top! That's the reason why we want to introduce our miraculous team today.

The top manager is Maj G NEDOMANSKY, a popular and respected officer, who as the Quartermaster Officer is in charge of catering as well. He has got just one small "fault": he likes biscuits and cakes most dearly (and enjoys them most of the time).

WO 1 Oski R ZEPA, our food-master, is eagerly striving to bring on all the food stuff needed, he doesn't even shrink from driving over the island in his refrigerator vehicle during the afternoons.

But without cooks nothing can be achieved, because of what use is the best food stuff as long as it is not cooked-boiled, fried, grilled etc. To do that WO 2 K ZWETTLE is the head of two cooking-shifts consisting each of one Sergeant as shift-leader and three other ranks. On 2 Aug 1983 he decided to bless our contingent with his art as cook and confectioner (he learned both professionals), for which we are most grateful to him today more than ever. Besides, he even honoured five times our AUSBATT in SYRIA with his presence!

One of the two shift-leaders is Sgt WESSL, who not only shows an excellent knowledge in cooking but also commands the true art of smoking. His smoked sausages are a real delicacy, not only in Cyprus. Under his command he has got 1/Cpl S SCHELLANDER, 2/Cpl H KRUSCH (the Austrian Battalion's confectioner) and L/Cpl H LUNZER (in charge of meat-specialities).

The second shift-leader, Sgt L HOFINGER, also an excellent cook, leads a team of three cooks as well, who delight our bellies. They are 1/Cpl WSKOF, 2/Cpl S KRAMMER and L/Cpl R GRAFF.

Major G NEDOMANSKY - the boss himself!

It's a pity that we haven't got enough space to describe the excellent qualities of Maj NEDOMANSKY and his team but to do so would fill legions of volumes. Therefore we have got an urgent and final request: please go on cooking in such a wonderful way, even if there exists the danger that we at AUSCON have to introduce a second sport's afternoon a week.

The happy AUSCON chef-crew after the finishing of a splendid meal.

SECTOR TWO NEWS

By: Lt C WOODS R.N.

With the Senior Service once again firmly at the helm, I am pleased to report a successful transition from army to navy tenancy in Sector Two. The ease at which this has been accomplished however, has been largely due to the very warm welcome extended to us by all elements of UNFICYP and the Greek and Turkish military and civil authorities: without their help the initial weeks of our Cypriot deployment would have been a much more difficult period.

We quickly settled into our accommodation and into our new operational commitments, and with routines established, those not required for duty have been able to escape the heat and dust with an occasional excursion to the coast or with some adventure training in the Troodos. At the Box Factory, on the western extreme of our sector, Alpha Company personnel, unable to partake in such activities, have acquired the services of an ice-cream man who sells the most monstrous cones imaginable. His chimes immediately produce a Pavlovian like queue headed by the Company Commander who somehow always manages to get there first.

In the west of the sector, Charlie Company has now completed its move into palatial premises at B18, and although lacking air conditioning those not living there claim it to have accommodation standards very close to those of the Hilton. Much of the credit for the alterations must be given to our detachment of Queen's Gurkha Engineers who have produced some excellent work. However, forthcoming issues of this publication will give more details of this unique force.

Major General G G Greindl inspects the culinary delights prepared by L/Cpl Charles during a recent visit to B18. There witnessing the event is Company Commander Capt. Kevin De Val.

July the first is celebrated by Canadians as our nation's birthday. The Canadian Contingent, 1st Bn Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry celebrated the day in true Western Canadian Fashion by hosting a Stampede. Stampedes traditionally date to the 1800's with ranchers converging on towns to celebrate the end of a cattle drive. Our home town of Calgary currently hosts the oldest such event in Canada.

The aim of our celebrations was two-fold. Primarily we wished to celebrate our nation's birthday with other nations but at the same time we were attempting to gather funds for sponsored charities. Both objectives were met and exceeded. From all reports, those who attended (approx 1000) thoroughly enjoyed themselves and close to £600 was donated to the Theotokos Hospital for the Mentally Retarded and to the Red Crescent Hospital.

The day's activities were split into two parts: first were the non-rodeo events which included a Stampede Breakfast (real Maple Syrup), a parade, the judging of the floats and the selection of "Ms" CANCON Stampede. The RAOC Train and horse rides for the children were also a big attraction. At the pool area, numerous positions on the B-Merit List were affected by the results of the baseball dunking stand (the DCO and RSM were inexplicably absent...).

A Stampede Bar-B-Que concluded the morning's activities. Congratulations to the cooks of the Battalion who served approximately 950 steaks in one hour!

The afternoon was dedicated to "Cyprus" rodeo events and included: goat milking, bronco riding, mule races and, the thriller of the day, the chuck wagon race.

The Chuck Wagon Race at the Calgary Stampede is always the most dangerous and demanding test of man's skill and courage. The CANCON Stampede version lived up to that reputation with contingent teams pulling out all the stops in the pursuit of victory.

The final victor was the team from the Ferret Scout Car Squadron, who manoeuvred their "unmodified" trailer through the course in record time.

All in all, it was a most enjoyable day. Our heartfelt thanks to the many that made the trek to Wolseley Barracks to join us in our celebration and to the many local merchants who donated their time and merchandise for a most worthy cause.

Last, but not least, hats off to the many members of the Battalion who worked hard and long to make the day a great success. Well done!
TASK CHARLIE IN SECTOR ONE

By MAJOR P. BERTElsen

It is early morning - Thursday and we are standing on the helipad in the Liminits Camp waiting for the arrival of the Wessex helicopter. The relief for the next two weeks are ready and so are the fresh rations, the drinking and washing water for the next two days.

The Danish Charlie - Coy are located in this area - the westernmost and most mountainous in the UNIFCYP area - and in Liminits we find the C-Coy camp. For most of the OPs in Charlie the conditions of ground are very hard, and because of that they are re-supplied by helicopter three times a week, and in less than two hours all the OPs are supplied with fresh rations, milk, drinking and washing water, mail, tobacco and so on.

Photographs by Sgt A Thompson

For those involved, this is a very good way to re-supply these OPs, but it is rather expensive, and so in August a trial is made to reduce the number of hours flown by helicopter, and instead of air re-supply, it will be done by landrovers.

Loading/Unloading supplies at D 14. The whole operation takes only a matter of minutes. Then it's on to the next location.

ARIVAL OF 44th SWEDISH CIVILIAN POLICE CONTINGENT

By Insp Lars-Arne Eriksson

The 44th Swedish Civilian Police contingent that arrived on the 3rd of May has now completely taken over its assignments here in Cyprus. The 44th SWEDCIVPOL contingent consists of police officers from varying workfields and different places in Sweden, but what they have in common is a vast amount of police experience. These officers are used to working under stress and dealing with people in difficult situations. Several of them have been UN soldiers and police officers in UN before. These factors make the civilian police deal for their job of dealing with civilians in Cyprus, especially the BZ.

DCOMD SWEDCIVPOL - FAMOUS NARCOTIC AGENT IN SWEDEN

By Insp Lars-Arne Eriksson

Sven Welin, aged 44, DCOMD SWEDCIVPOL is a famous narcotic agent back home in Sweden. Sven lives a quiet family life with his wife and daughter in a small village just outside Malmö in Sweden. His work as a narcotic agent is no means quiet, it's a hard, thrilling and sometimes dangerous job. Malmö, where he works, is a big town in the very south of Sweden and one of the most important cities for drug smuggling into Sweden. Sven and his 40 colleagues in the narcotic squad have a busy time preventing drug dealing and drug smuggling. 24 years in the Police Force and 13 years in the Narcotic Squad have made Sven one of the best in Sweden in his field of work. Many criminals in Swedish jails know about that.

As an example I will mention a case in which Sven was involved.

In March 82 the Narcotic Squad received information that a well-known drugdealer had started up his "work" again. More information flowed in and they found it necessary to tail him. A TV team from Swedish TV lived with the Police Officers for about four months and filmed the surveillance and the arrest. This documentary film was the great success when it was broadcast in Sweden.

Down here in Cyprus Sven continues his work as a narcotic police officer by giving drug information to the Swedish UN soldiers. Drug information has also been broadcast by Swedcon radio.

When Sven has finished his work in Cyprus he will go to the USA for a scholarship Course arranged by the FBI concerning drug problems, especially cocaine. Since cocaine is a fairly new drug in Sweden and...
TIME OUT FOR S-65

By: Lt M DAGERHALL

The Swedish OPT S-65 is one of the most well-known. For five years an old terrain vehicle, a Volvo 903, has been the look-out for several Swedish UN-soldiers made their duty through the years. In early July, however, the OPT ended its story in the BZ, and was towed back "home" to Camp Victoria.

The story of S-65 starts back in 1979. For several years, the Swedes wanted to build a new OP in the mountains just outside Louroujina. Since there was no money left for further buildings in the Swedish sector, someone figured out how to save even more money. A very expensive repair was to be made on the Volvo, which at the time was in very bad shape. Instead of repairing the car, it was transported to the patrol track outside Louroujina and fitted up as a cramped OPT with a small tower just above the drivers seat.

UN MP COY ASSISTANCE TO THE BLIND

BY CWO CARL BUNGAY

During Maj Cannons' reign (Jun 83-Jul 84) as the Force Provost Marshal, he undertook a very worthwhile cause, of raising funds to help the Blind. The cause was unique in that as far as can be determined it is the first time this UN MP Coy has undertaken such a task. Every member of the Coy, regardless of nationality, gave it their support. The donations were divided equally among the Turkish Cypriot and Greek Cypriot Blind Associations.

One of the fund raising schemes used was to auction off the Deputy Commanding Officer's moustache. Capt Olsen from Denmark, was coerced into donating a bushy moustache. The shaving ceremony was enjoyed by all.

Step 1
Filleting salmon by taking head and tail off and laying the salmon flat on its stomach. Take a sharp filleting knife and cut into the salmon on either side of the backbone. Carefully keep the knife closest to the bone, and continue in a downward motion sliding toward you allowing the meat to separate from the bone until the fillet is completely off. Carry out same procedure for the other side.

Step 2
Lay the fillet on a cutting board with meat facing up. Starting at either end and go in 1 in and slice the fillet until the knife reaches the skin. Slide the finger off by turning the knife on an angle and sliding it under the fillet. Carry out same procedure until all fingers are removed.

Step 3
Have three pans ready. Place flour in the first pan. Place the eggs, milk, salt, pepper, and onion salt in second one and mix well. Place bread crumbs in third one. Roll the fingers in the flour, then place in the egg mixture and roll in the bread crumbs until all fingers are completely coated.

Step 4
Deep fry the fingers at 350 degrees F for approximately 5 min or until golden brown. Place in oven at 300 degrees F for 10 min. When finished place on garnished serving tray and sprinkle with lemon juice and serve.

This dish can be used when doing a seafood platter and also as an appetizer or when making canapés.

HAPPY 65TH BIRTHDAY TO THE ROYAL CANADIAN MILITARY POLICE
The Life Guards are no strangers to Cyprus. During service in Egypt from 1954 to 1956 detachments from the Regiment served in the island. In 1964 C Squadron was sent out on short notice to become part of the newly formed United Nations Force. A Squadron toured the island in 1976 and just before the departure from Windsor to Germany in 1979 B Squadron served here. Many of the present C Squadron contingent who were on those tours will surely be quietly investigating old watering holes and the development of the seeds they sowed eight years ago.

The Life Guards, one of two Household Cavalry Regiments, is the senior Regiment in the British Army. Formed in 1660 by King Charles II as a personal bodyguard prior to his restoration as King, the mounted Squadron at Knightsbridge still plays a role similar to that of three hundred years ago. On State occasions The Life Guards surround the Monarch’s carriage and protect her from a threat rather different to the one King Charles envisaged when he first formed his mounted bodyguard. Perhaps one of the most famous battle honours is that of Waterloo when The Life Guards formed the Charging Line of the Household Cavalry Brigade, went in at the height of battle and saved the British Centre from being overrun. Seventy years before, during the war of Austrian Succession, the Regiment played a leading role in the rout of the French Household Cavalry at Dettingen. As part of the composite Household Cavalry Regiment, The Life Guards fought in Egypt in 1882, South Africa in 1899, and the First and Second World Wars. From 1948 to 1971 The Life Guards as an Armoured Car Regiment had elements in Palestine, Aden, The Oman, Malaya, Singapore, Borneo, Greece, Turkey, Norway, Denmark, Northern Ireland, and of course Cyprus. This exciting cosmopolitan way of life was brought to an abrupt end when in 1971 they became a Tank Regiment for the first time in their history and were deployed in Germany for five years to protect the Eastern Front of Europe. Fortunately the Regiment’s role changes every five years, giving a variety of postings, the envy of other British Cavalry Regiments. The Life Guards have just returned from their second tour of Germany and are looking forward to a more exciting if less predictable way of life at Windsor with 5 Airborne Brigade.

Household Cavalry (not Avant Garde at the best of times) failed to catch on and the old titles have remained to the present day. Likewise the rank insignia are different to the rest of the British Army due to Queen Victoria objecting to the Corporals in her bodyguard having only one chevron on their arm.

A Lance Corporal has two chevrons and a brass crown, a Lance Corporal of Horse (the equivalent of full Corporal) has three chevrons and a cloth crown, and a Corporal of Horse has three chevrons and a brass crown.

By the time this article is published C Squadron will have taken over from the 16/5th Lancers and settled down to its third role in five months. The move from Germany to England, successfully completed in January, was followed by three months Conversion Training from Chieftain tanks to Fox Armoured Cars, an exercise on Salisbury Plain and Gunnery Camp at Lulworth. The Squadron is now fully trained, has some experience, and awaits with anticipation the challenge of a tour as an Independent Squadron.
Colonel Wellsman joined the Canadian Army in 1952, entering Le College Militaire Royal de St Jean. He graduated in 1957 from RMC, was commissioned into the Royal Regiment of Canadian Artillery and attended the University of Toronto in 1957–58 obtaining an honours degree in Military history.

He served in Gagetown, New Brunswick from 1958 until 1962 with 3 RCHA and 1 RCHA. Promoted to Captain in 1961 he was appointed Adjutant of 1 RCHA. From 1962 to 1965 he served as Army Staff Officer and lecturer in military studies at Royal Roads Military College in Victoria, British Colombia. In 1965 he returned to regimental duty with 4 RCHA in Petawawa, Ontario.

Selected to attend the Canadian Army Staff College, Kingston, Ontario in 1966, he was promoted Major during the course and subsequently joined the operations staff of Commander Northern Army Group in North West Europe. In 1969 he assumed Command of “C” Battery 1 RCHA in Germany. On return to Canada in 1971 he took Command of 3 RCHA in Shilo, Manitoba.

In 1973 Colonel Wellsman was appointed to the Directing Staff of the Canadian Land Forces Staff College in Kingston, Ontario. Promoted Colonel in 1974 he joined the operations staff of Commander Mobile Command at St Hubert, Quebec. In 1976 he joined the staff of Commander Maritime Command in Halifax, Nova Scotia as Chief of Staff Region Operations.

Selected to attend the National Defence College in 1978 he was appointed Deputy Commander, 1 Canadian Brigade Group/Canadian Forces Base Calgary upon completion of the course in 1979. Previous to his appointment as Deputy Chief of Staff UNFICYP, he was Director of Military Plans Coordination at National Defence Headquarters.

Colonel Wellsman is married to the former Joan Bradley of Moncton, New Brunswick. They have three sons.
