CHRISTMAS MESSAGE FROM THE FORCE COMMANDER

Christmas, the season of fellowship and goodwill, the time of sharing and caring, is upon us once more, and all of us will realize that as we celebrate the birth of Christ we do so with our families and friends whenever possible. Here in UNFICYP, however, many of us will be unable to celebrate Christmas in the traditional way. It is a sacrifice we must all make but in the knowledge that it is for a most worthwhile cause—that of peace. As such your contribution is invaluable, recognized and appreciated. I commend all of you for your dedication and perseverance, your patience and good humour, and I wish all of you a happy and safe Christmas and a peaceful New Year.

Major General C. Milner

WELL IT WAS ALMOST AN ACCIDENT FREE CHRISTMAS....

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

In spite of many previous warnings and despite preventive measures by contingents, the number of road traffic accidents continues to grow. In October, UNFICYP personnel were involved in 35 traffic accidents, the highest figure in three and a half years. The festive season is a time when particular care is needed while driving. Don't spoil your holiday or someone else's. Exercise greater caution and more restraint than ever. The Force Commander recently expressed a wish for an accident-free week. Why not start now? Give the Force Commander a very special Christmas present from everyone—make Christmas week accident free.

AUSCON MEDAL PARADE

The Australian Medal Parade, held on the Austrian National Day - the 26th October started with worries about the weather. An Austrian proverb says 'luck is with the competent' and fortunately that is just what happened. The sun broke through as the Battalion marched to the beat of the drums towards the parade ground in Camp Duke Leopold.

Around 200 guests didn't regret their coming when they saw the smart and proud soldiers - their eyes and heads facing right in the correct manner.

The men were presented with their medals by the Force Commander, Major General Milner and the Contingent Commander Colonel Fritsch.

One man - WO1 Gruber was far more familiar with the honour as he was presented with his 24th numeral marking 12 year's service with UNFICYP.

We would like to extend our thanks to the 2nd Royal Tank Regiment for providing an excellent musical programme.

At the reception that followed Lt Col Dallinger the CO of the Austrian Battalion thanked the guests for attending and thus contributing to a great day for all members of the Battalion.

UN MP COY MEDAL PARADE

On 17 Oct 89, 35 members of the UN MP Coy paraded before the Deputy Chief of Staff, Col F. Fritsch, to be presented with their UN medals and/or numbers. The UN MP Coy is unique within the UN as the Coy is made up of all seven contingents.

A reception for the 200 plus guests was held after the parade in the MP Lounge.

The MP coy wish to take this opportunity to thank the Pipes and Drums of the 4 RTR under the direction of Drum Major McSweeney, for a fine performance.

VICTORY FOR SP REGT AT UNFICYP MILITARY SKILLS COMPETITION

Photos by MCPL Doary

Seventeen teams from all Sectors, UN MP Coy and FSC Sqn battled it out in the very demanding Military Skills Competition on 19th October. A 10km forced march at a cracking pace of under 54 minutes, followed by a shoot at 100m started the day. After a short break teams were subjected to a recognition test, a map reading exercise and a grenade throwing practice. The final event, which would dictate the overall placings, was a most gruelling team test requiring stamina and technique. The Force Commander congratulated all the participants on their guts and determination to succeed.

AN AUSTRIAN CHRISTMAS TALE

One Christmas in the village of Lochtou on the shore of Lake Constance in Austria, there lived a fisherman's son named Christian.

Christmas was fast approaching and Christian's parentes asked him to write a list to the Christmas Child of all the things he would like for Christmas to put under his pillow on Christmas Eve.

Christian was very curious. He wanted to know just what this Christmas Child really was and became determined that this Christmas he would see him with his own eyes. He began to think of ways that he could achieve this.

Christian had often watched his father lay out his fishing hooks in the evenings and he noticed that by the next morning there were always many fish and eels caught in the hooks. An idea came to him.

The night before Christmas he stole one of his father's fishing hooks, attached his list to the Christmas Child and put it under his pillow.

When he woke up the next morning to his surprise and great dismay he did not find the Christmas Child. Instead he found the fish hook which was blood stained and attached to it there was a note. It read: 'You are such a naughty boy, you deserve to be spanked but I am the Christmas Child so to punish you I have decided not to leave any presents this Christmas'.

The moral of this story is: 'Don't search for something mythical. It is the belief that will make you happy - not the knowledge!.'

A GREEN (LINE) CHRISTMAS

The sun, always the sun, beat down continuously as the soldier toed the line to keep the boat inside the cramped OP. Nothing stirred, not even a BZT, on this day before Christmas. Cyprus returned to its Mediterranean beauty but the Canuck pinned for the blazing white brilliance of a Canadian Christmas.

Unconsciously humming a fragment or "Jingle Bells" the soldier observed a bunker and was startled by strong memories of snow forts and sleigh rides. Ever vigilant, he allowed a fraction of his thoughts to ponder past Christmases in Canada.

The soldier was fortunate he reflected. Canada, vast and diverse, had a variety of Christmases to offer and he had been a part of many. As such, he didn't feel too upset that he would experience a new and different Christmas. Besides, he chuckled to himself, HE was hardly a hardcase!

Despite being fortified by the thought that he was going to be a part of a singular season to remember, (and that an officer would be doing his shift tomorrow!) he still missed the crunch of snow underfoot, the patter of crystal flakes on window panes and the sight and smell of a traditional family dinner. Eggnog, carolling and candle light services, all flashed through his mind as yet another radio check broke the air.

Tomorrow, despite everything, was Christmas! He had realized that the celebration of Christmas was not dependent on location - it revolved around the spirit of PEACE and GOODWILL. He, through his goodwill, provided the peace and many were the better for it.

MERRY CHRISTMAS UNITED NATIONS FROM ALL CANADIANS IN CYPRUS AND IN CANADA!

UN MP COY HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE

On 24 September 1967 Cpl Kenneth A. Salmon, Canadian and member of the UN MP Coy died of natural causes. As was the custom of the day, Cpl Salmon was buried at the Dhekelia Military cemetery. On 20 October 1989 the UN MP Coy paid their respects to Cpl Salmon by holding a memorial service in his honour. Present for the wreath laying was Maj G. Nault, FPM, representing the UN MP Coy, Capt K.O. Bendixen representing the six other contingents of the UN MP Coy and CWO D. Nolan, Canadian Military Police Branch Chief Warrant Officer, representing the Canadian Military Police Branch.

The establishment of three new United Nations peace-keeping missions during 1988, in Iran, Iraq, Namibia and Angola, has put the UN Secretariat under heavy pressure in respect of staffing. Civilian staff have had to be detailed to help these new missions build up their administrative support services, often from scratch and under difficult conditions.

It is in such circumstances that the UN is lucky in having as part of its secretariat, a special corps of mobile field personnel, known as the Field Service. This particular category of staff was created in 1950 following a decision by the UN General Assembly authorizing the Secretary-General to establish a UN Field Service to provide certain technical services to field missions. The services provided fall within the fields of security transport, communications and administration. Field Service staff must be highly mobile and ready to move to other missions at very short notice.

As UNIFCYP's Field Service staff is an experienced group, with years of service in other peace-keeping missions behind them, it was natural that UN Headquarters turned to them for assistance in building up the services in the new missions in Africa and in the Gulf area last year. Nine Field Service Staff members have therefore been called away from UNIFCYP for this purpose.

They are:
- Victoria Barbado, PA to the SRSO, to Namibia
- Domnador Bermano, Radio Officer, to Iran-Iraq
- Edilberto Cheong, CCO, to Angola and later to CENT. Amer. countries and to Namibia
- Pablo Comesaña, Radio Technician, to Angola
- Carlos Orozco, Radio Officer, to Namibia and later to Namibia
- Nabor Riquelme, Radio Technician, to Iran-Iraq
- Elias Secundes, Radio Supervisor, to Iran-Iraq and later to Namibia
- Lars Skiland, Acconnc. Officer, to Namibia and later to Namibia
- Berndt Wikstrom, Registrar Officer, to Iran-Iraq and later to Namibia

These new missions are not considered as family missions, and all of the out-posted UNIFCYP staff members have therefore been obliged to leave their families behind in Nicosia. A few families may be able to go out and visit their fathers briefly at their duty stations during the Christmas Holidays. Other are expected to come home for a few days. But some of the families will have to spend Christmas and New Year without the father at home. In this festive season our thoughts and best wishes go to them and their absent dear ones.

With the end of our tour approaching, life seems to be ever more busy. We have had our Bakalava celebrations, the UNIFCYP Military Skills and Shooting competitions.

Bakalava celebrations were 'low key' this year. The inter-troop football competition was won by 2nd Troop and an inter-troop volleyball competition was won by 1st Troop.

The highlight of the celebrations was undoubtedly the Sergeant's Mess Ball to which 120 people attended. We were very privileged to have Major General Milner as our guest of honour.

Our Military Skills and Shooting teams both performed admirably particularly bearing in mind the size of the Force Scout Car Squadron compared to other units. In particular the team in the 'Falling Plate' shooting team did extremely well to reach the semi-finals of the competition.

C Squadron 9th/12th Royal Lancers (PWO) have now completed a very successful reception and we look forward to seeing their pre-advance party on 14th December.

In England it is traditional to have a large lunch on Christmas Day (25th December) of roast turkey and Christmas pudding with all the family. In the Regiment, prior to Christmas leave, the soldiers are served a Christmas lunch in the cookhouse waited on by the officers and senior ranks. The officers and senior ranks are then invited to the Officer's Mess for drinks which often go on long into the afternoon.

The Force Scout Car Squadron would like to thank all members of UNIFCYP a very Merry Christmas.
AUSTCIVPOL NEWS

On no he's not still here. Well no he's not he's gone but because of deadlines etc he had to write for the Christmas edition of the Blue Beret. Last Christmas I wrote about Christmas in Australia and this Christmas I shall be there nine hours before the majority of UNFICYP are awake partaking in the chicken and champagne on Manly beach. My thoughts will stray to last year's Christmas day when it was bleak and cold with the snow capped Troodos Mountains observed when I traversed the short distance between our Winter Bar and the kitchen either to collect another dish of the traditional Christmas fare or to return some used dishes. This year I will be thinking of all my friends in UNFICYP and wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

My successor is Superintendent John Cooper an Englishman who had the exquisite taste to become an Australian citizen years ago. Welcome John and your wife and family. I do hope your two year posting will be a highlight in your career. I have certainly enjoyed it and there is no reason why you shouldn't enjoy it more because of your comprehension of the official language in UNFICYP.

This year's Melbourne Cup was won by Twelftree. The Scottish Mafia Syndicate (Members of 4RTR and friends) won a total of £600 between them.

I reflect upon last year's Melbourne Cup which was won by Empire Rose. The celebrations of Australia Day followed the calm of Christmas and then the thrills provided by the Henley-on-Pednheos Boat Race.

I also reflect upon the Dancon Marches, the Rugby Union final, the cricket matches, the friendly village of Kokkino Trimithea, the happy hour at the Australian Mess every Saturday evening and the friends I've made and the sadness when they leave the island to a posting elsewhere.

For 25 years now UNFICYP has been in existence and even though some progress has been made hopefully a solution is not far away - one must always have a positive attitude. I would like before I die to return one day to a united Cyprus and feel that in my own small way that I had contributed to such an achievement.

“Load...Ready?... Anyone not Ready...Fire”.

The voice of Lt Scharinger even reached Camp Duke Leopold, all the way from the Training Area for the UNFICYP Shooting Competition - three kilometres away.

The three Austrian teams were worked so hard that the soldiers could oil their weapons with the drops of their sweat.

The training results got better and better so much so that the teams knew that the 5th October would be an exciting day.

On the day of the competition, relying on the Austrian made Steyr 77 and Glock 17 weapons the teams began optimistically.

By the end of the day all our hard training paid off as we became overall winners of the competition. The trophy can now be admired in Camp Duke Leopold for the very first time.

The party that followed was celebrated with such enthusiasm that we wouldn't want to miss the opportunity of doing it all again. So all those sectors and units out there be prepared when we strive forward again to defend our title!

BAMA RALLY-EXERCISE TRACKMASTER 1989

Support Regiment convincingly won the 1989 British Army Motoring Association rally, Exercise Trackmaster held on 27 and 28 October 1989 in the Troodos mountains. Maj Collinson and Cpl McTeggart were the overall winners of the rally and the team from the Transport Squadron took the first team prize. Lt Booth and Cpl Kemp crewed the second vehicle. The Support Regiment entered five vehicles into the rally. Two vehicles were from the Transport Squadron, two from the UN Flight and one vehicle from the RE Yard. The two vehicles from UN Flight entered as a team and won the award of second team. The UN crews achieved excellent results in this prestigious BAMA event.

There was a large field of 38 entrants for the event. The rally started in Broadhound Camp west of Episkopi and quickly wound its way up into the difficult and dangerous tracks of the Troodos. After a night of stressful driving and testing navigation through the mountains, the final stage of the rally was carried out adjacent to the beach. The special stages of the rally required precision driving and a thorough knowledge of the vehicle's capabilities to achieve a good result. The rally was a demanding test of both driving and navigational skills.

CHANGE OF COMMAND IN SECTOR FOUR

Lt Col Dallinger

We wish Lt Col Dallinger all the best as he rejoins his unit in Austria as the Deputy Commander to the HOUS, the Austrian SNCO's training centre, and we welcome Lt Col Pacher-Theinburg who now assumes command of Sector 4.

SWEDISH CHRISTMAS CELEBRATIONS

An old Swedish tradition celebrated every year on 13th December is called 'Lucia' or 'Lucia Day' - the Queen of Light which must have a lot to do with the long and dark Nordic winters. Usually Lucia is represented by a young, nice looking woman or girl with long blonde hair, wearing a long white dress carrying burning candles in a chaplet on her head. The celebration also consists of Lucia's maids and Star Boys who are dressed in long white snirts and pointed caps. Lucia, the maids and Star Boys sing Christmas carols carrying burning candles in their hands.

The problem for SWEDCON this year will be to find a nice looking girl with long blonde hair amongst our policemen and soldiers!

In Sweden, Christmas Eve is the day when families gather at home to celebrate Christmas. It's the day when Tomten (Santa Claus) arrives with gifts and people eat typical Swedish Christmas food, Julskinka (Christmas Ham) prepared in a special way, different kinds of pickled herrings, sausages, bread and other delicacies from the Swedish 'Smorgasbord' all washed down with the famous Swedish schnapps.

At SWEDCON, UNFICYP, there is also an old tradition of jumping into the sea on Christmas Eve to gain membership to the 'Polar Bear Swimming Club'.

NEW CCWO FOR UN MP COY

Chief Warrant Officer Jim Lemieux left replaced Chief Warrant Officer Clifton as CCWO of UN MP Coy on 3rd of Nov 1989.

CWO Lemieux from CFB Gagetown, New Brunswick, is serving in his 30th year with the Canadian Forces, as a member of the Canadian Forces, as a member of the Canadian Provoat Corps and as a Military policeman since integration.

He is no stranger to the Island having served a previous tour in UN MP Coy in 1972-1973. The "RSM" as he likes to be called is looking forward to his tour and working with the members of the other contingents.
CHRISTMAS IN DENMARK

In the Danish Christmas paganism and Christianity are woven together in such a way that it is difficult to see where one begins and one ends.

The Danish word for Christmas is ‘Jul’ an old Nordic word which has an affinity with the word ‘juel’ meaning wheel - a circular and repeated understanding of time.

Christmas and the winter solstice are one and the same - and here the new year begins. In the 15th Century when the Julian calendar was still in use, there was a complete identity between solstice, Christmas and the New Year - a secular new year where the 1st of January did not exist. On the last day of the year - which is now our Christmas Eve - it was common practice that the house lord summoned his household and let the ‘Skol’ (bowl) full of beer or mead to pass from his hand wishing “Christ’s and the New Year’s Skol” to each person who in turn took a sip from the bowl. To propose a ‘Skol’ originally meant to spend a round.

New Year’s Eve (Christmas Eve) was celebrated in candle lit churches all over Denmark throughout the night with the community singing popular Lutheran songs. At dawn people went home to breakfast and to prepare for the real Christmas.

Christmas (Jul) was, and is, up to this day the real Christian (Pagan) festival in Denmark. It is full of blessing, and everyone has a strong and living feeling of divine presence. It is customary for many houses to make a bed for the guest from heaven and all his angels. The table is laid for dinner with the best the house can offer visitors (Christ as well as other guests).

You then participate in the divine blessing and you give your blessings in the form of hospitality and gifts in return because of the gospel message: "For unto us a Saviour is born", a Saviour who brings us up from an era of sin, darkness and death; to an era of grace, light and eternal life.

The gospel remains the same today, but it seems as if Christmas has lost some of its significance and meaning through commercialism and secularisation. In spite of this - or maybe because of this - the Danes offer enormous attention to the customs and rites in ‘sweet Christmas time’ and ‘Juleins’ (carols), hymns and songs will always have room in the hearts of Danes.

SIX MONTHS LATER

As long as the Cyprus problem exists so the UN continue striving to solve it using good organisation, friendship and diplomacy. Danish Vikings, Scottish clanmen, Canadian and Australians each with proud histories and deep pride in their forces rise to the challenge.

The art of peacekeeping can be difficult and is not something that is taught in military academies or parade grounds. Suppressing hard learned military skills and adopting the role of diplomat and mediator has not been easy but six months in UNFICYP has allowed us to master with success this new role.

Within 4 RTR we believe we have done our job well using the limited resources at our disposal. We have completed our mission and can justifiably and proudly claim a new qualification - that of Peacekeeper.

We will depart soon but UNFICYP carries on. We welcome our successors - 2 Field Regiments United Nations soldier using skill and patience.

Good luck in all that you do.

KEY:

1. A REAL CANADIAN PINE OR FIR TREE Preferably freshly cut. Artificial trees are for Europeans. The tree is always decorated, usually surrounded with star or angel. Trimmings consists of either candles or lights, glass bulbs, popcorn strings and angel hair, or tinsel. Decorating the tree once selected, is a family ritual.

2. SNOW. No Canadian Christmas is complete without a fresh layer of sparkling, white, crisp snow. The deeper the better, 2-4 feet is good. Unless you’re from New Brunswick where 2-4 meters is normal.

3. PRESENTS must be wrapped and placed under the tree. The opening of Christmas gifts may take place anytime from Christmas Eve till late Christmas morning depending on one's ethnic background.

4. THE FEAST (OR FEASTS). Christmas dinners are very important affairs and are usually numerous. They often include turkey, goose or ham. Tortiere if you are French Canadian, perogies if you are Ukranian Canadian, fresh pies, cakes and pastries, Christmas Pudding and of course Egg Nog or Moose Milk. Mulled wine is a must, especially after a day skiing or tobogganing.

5. THE PAPER SNOWFLAKE that the kids made in school is given a place of prominence.

6. A REAL LOG FIRE. Canadian hardwoods like Maple or Oak are best, sometimes cut from your own wood lot.

7. STOCKINGS. Hung by the chimney with care.

8. PICTURE OF DAD IN CYPRUS - so that we don’t forget him.

9. MISTLETOE. (Unfortunately this is a wasted gesture since everyone want to kiss is in Cyprus).

I told them! But they said NO ONE gets in to the BZ without a pass!
